

Hyena and Raven

Author: Ann Nduku

Illustrator: Wiehan de Jager

Level 2

Hyena and Raven were once great friends,
even though they were quite different in some ways.
Raven could fly but Hyena was only able to walk.

One day Hyena, curious to know something about his friend, asked Raven, "What is this white thing which is always below your neck?"

Raven answered, "It is the fatty meat which I usually eat in the sky. I have been eating it for so long now it is stuck on my neck."

On hearing about meat, saliva started pouring out of Hyena's mouth for he was greedy and he loved meat very much.

Hyena really wanted to eat that meat. But how could he reach the meat in the sky if he had no wings to fly?

"Please my friend," he asked Raven, "lend me some feathers so that I can make myself some wings. I really want to be able to fly like you."

Raven was not mean, so he gave him some feathers. Hyena sewed them together into wings. He fastened them to his body, and tried to take off into the sky. But he was far too heavy for the few feathers to carry him. So he had to think of another plan.

“Please my friend,” he asked Raven, “could I hold onto your tail as you fly up into the sky?”

“All right,” said Raven. “I know how much you want to fly. Let’s do it tomorrow morning.”

When day came, Hyena took hold of Raven’s tail and Raven flew up into the sky.

Raven flew and flew and flew until he was exhausted. But Hyena said, "Just a little further, my friend!" He could see the white and fatty meat just above them, and his mouth was watering.

When they reached the first piece of fatty meat, Hyena felt a jerk. One of Raven's tail feathers came off in his hand! Then there was another jerk, and another.

Raven felt much lighter, and the ache in his tail was going. He sang: Raven's feathers, unpluck yourselves. Raven's feathers, unpluck yourselves.

In response, Hyena sang the opposite: Raven's feathers hold on, don't unpluck yourselves. Raven's feathers hold on, don't unpluck yourselves.

Finally, the feathers could not hold Hyena anymore. He was in the middle of nowhere in the sky. He jumped onto the fatty meat thinking that as he ate, the fatty meat would hold him. But as he tried to hold and eat the 'meat', all he felt was moist cloud!

By now he was falling fast.
“Help, help!” he shouted.
But no one could hear him.
Raven was lost in the clouds.

Hyena fell on the ground with a crash and lay silent for some minutes. He woke up howling in pain, with a broken leg and dark scars all over his body.

From that day to now, Hyena limps and he has many scars on his body. He has never been able to fly. And he and Raven are no longer friends.

Story Attribution:

This story: Hyena and Raven is written by Ann Nduku. © African Storybook Initiative, 2014. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license.

Illustration Attributions:

Cover page: Crow and hyena, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2014. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license. Page 2: Hyena and crow flying, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2014. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license. Page 3: Crow and hyena, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2014. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license. Page 5: Hyena and crow dancing, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2014. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license. Page 6: hyena flying with the crow, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2014. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license. Page 7: hyena and crow flying high, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2014. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license. Page 8: hyena leaving crow, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2014. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license. Page 10: hyena jumping on cloud and crow watching, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2014. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license. Page 11: hyena falling from the sky, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2014. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license. Page 12: Hyena fell on ground, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2014. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license. Page 13: Hyena and crow on the branch, by Wiehan de Jager © African Storybook Initiative, 2014. Some rights reserved. Released under CC BY 4.0 license.

Disclaimer: <https://www.storyweaver.org.in/terms-and-conditions>

Some rights reserved. This book is CC-BY-4.0 licensed. You can copy, modify, distribute and perform the work, even for commercial purposes, all without asking permission. For full terms of use and attribution, <http://creativecommons.org/licenses/by/4.0/>

Hyena and Raven (English)

Hyena wants to know what the white mark is at the back of Raven's neck. On hearing that it is meat, he also wants to be able to fly into the clouds to get this 'meat'. He succeeds in flying, but it doesn't last and he falls to earth.

This is a Level 2 book for children who recognize familiar words and can read new words with help.

Pratham Books goes digital to weave a whole new chapter in the realm of multilingual children's stories. Knitting together children, authors, illustrators and publishers. Folding in teachers, and translators. To create a rich fabric of openly licensed multilingual stories for the children of India and the world. Our unique online platform, StoryWeaver, is a playground where children, parents, teachers and librarians can get creative. Come, start weaving today, and help us get a book in every child's hand!